

Returns & Refunds

Please be advised we do not accept returns based on a change of mind.

It's advisable for the buyer to do their research on the item/product they are interested in, in-terms of size, colour, material, fitment and compatibility with their application before making a purchase.

In the event of a wrong item/product ordered by the buyer, the cost of the return/freight will fall upon them and will be solely responsible for the return of the goods in the condition it was shipped out in and the refund will be based on the condition the item is returned in.

Used Items:

These are sold on "as is" basis and the condition of the item will be noted in the item description, images provided are only to show the overall condition of the item and may not capture each and every imperfection or damage.

We try to do our best to provide you with as much images and information on the item to the best of our ability.

Discontinued Items (Brand New):

If you have purchased a brand new discontinued item and it has arrived damaged or has been damaged in transit, please contact us immediately within 48 hours, also providing images of the damage to the item and its packaging. We will try to resolve the issue swiftly as possible by either providing a replacement (if we have stock) or a refund (normal refund policy applies).

No returns will be accepted after seven days of receiving any damaged goods or wrong orders.

Re-Stocking Fee:

A 20% re stocking fee may apply to returns; this is to cover courier collections and handling.